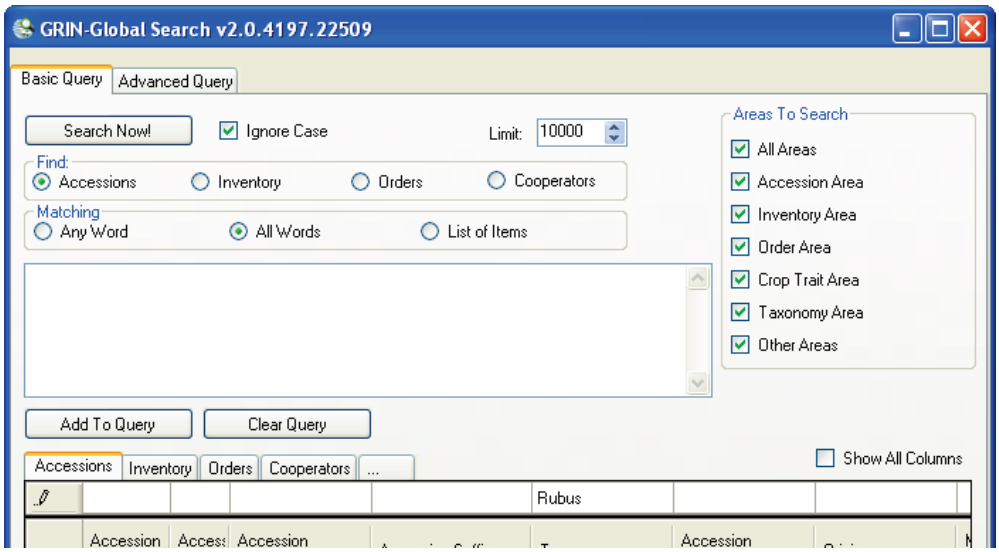
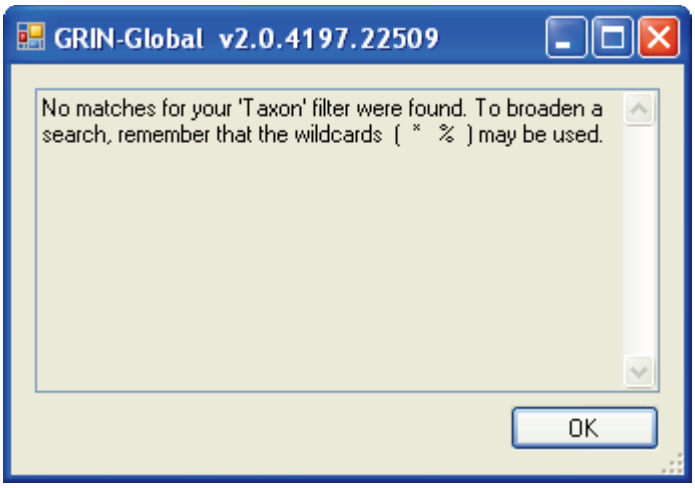
Call me confuse-ed... Maybe I don't have a handle on the big picture. Or maybe my point wasn't made well enough. Let's try again.

Examples:

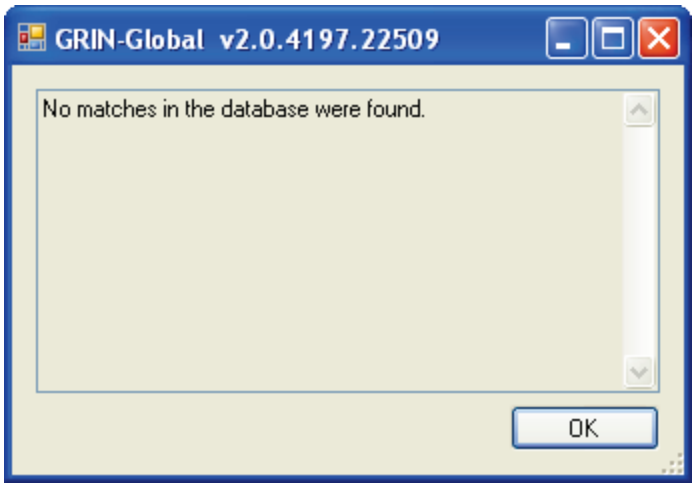
(1)



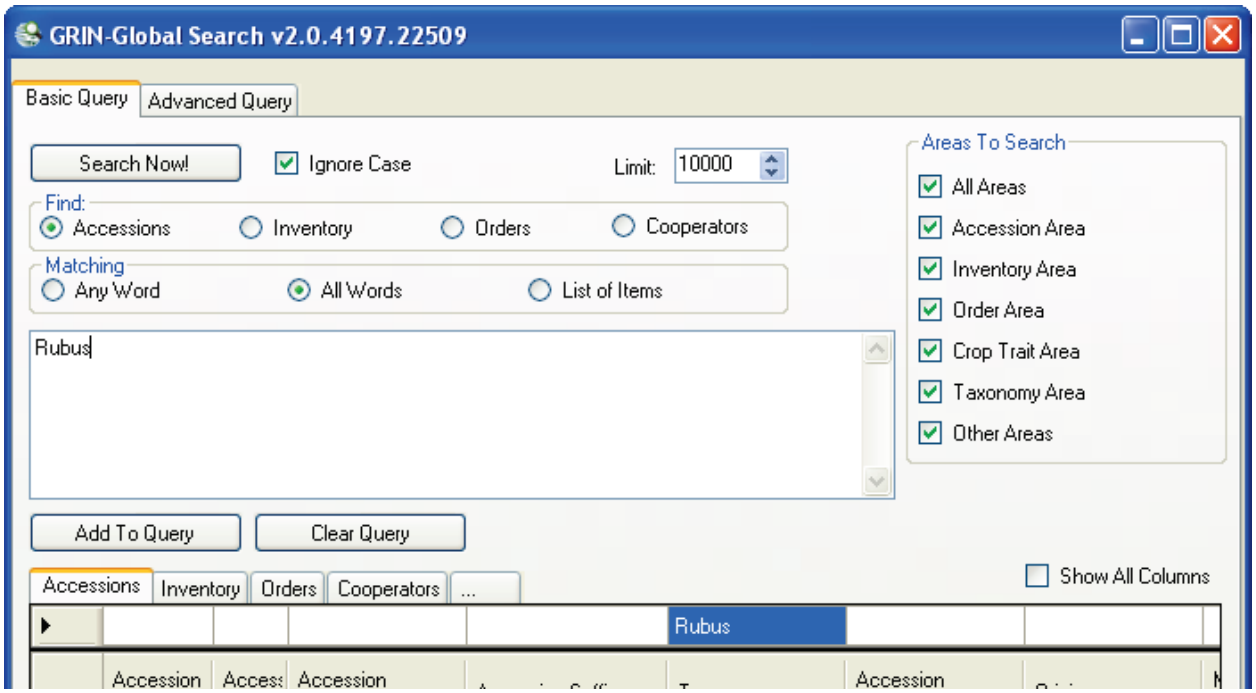
If I clear the query, and then just type Rubus in the QBE, and then Search Now!, (no wildcard), I get two succeeding messages (which are fine and make sense):



then

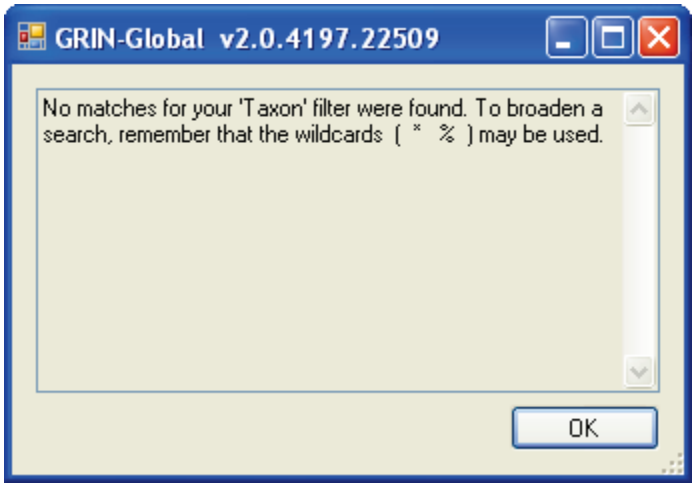


(2)

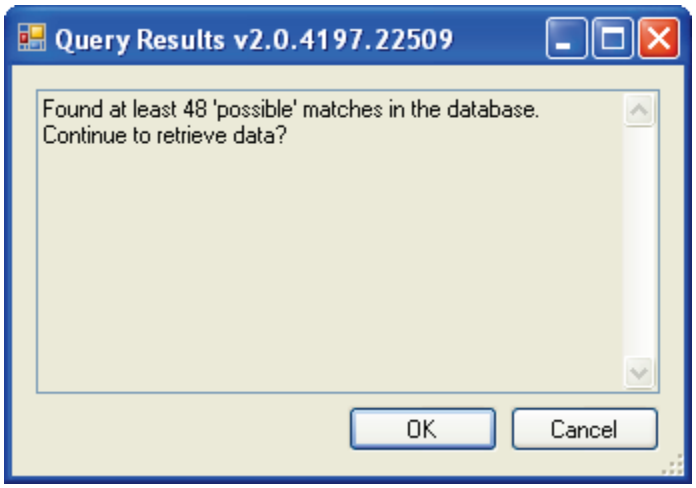


If I do another query (clear everything first), but this time type Rubus in both the QBE cell and in the text box, I get the following two messages in succession:

I get the following messages:



then



Which confuses me, (just a user…) ???

Isn't the code using what is ultimately in the text box? That's what I was assuming, because when I type something in the QBE and then click Search Now!, the text box gets populated. I am under the impression that the QBE is being looked at, and that whatever is in the QBE populates the text box.

In my second example, it appears that the code is looking in both the QBE and in the text box.

Marty